Summary:

Private bankers have abused the powers they have stolen. It is time for nations of freedom loving people to take back their Constitutional right to create credit. The current debt based system is corrupt and unsustainable.

Change Banking - Change The World

Step 1 - Government revokes permission to create money and credit from private bankers.

Step 2 - Government debt to private bankers is dissolved, nullified, erased, abolished, cancelled.

Step 3 - Government facilitates the prompt rendition and transfer of upper echelon private bankers to a suitably prepared and secured holding facility.

Step 4 - Government freezes the assets of the upper echelon banking families and their supporters, sycophants & henchmen. This would include lawyers, accountants and other accessories to criminal activity possibly even some well known past and present political leaders.

Step 5 - Government uses its constitutional and legal power to create credit and money via a Sovereign Monetary System. So rather than taking on unsustainable debt and borrowing from private bankers at interest - the Government spends money directly into the real economy. The effect of this would be that the "profit" from money creation stays with the people and country rather than the bankers. [Think about this one for a little while - infrastructure, research, education paid for without debt and interest. What a world we could have].

Step 6 - Taxes could be significantly reduced and simplified because the transfer of the peoples' time and wealth to the banking cartel would end.

Step 7 - Enjoy a world where far more people get a fair go. A world where there is less anxiety, depression & suicide; less violence; less substance abuse; less poverty; less family breakdown; less crime and less corruption. A world where you can look after your family's needs by working less than half the time you must now. A world where there is ample time to live, love and enjoy your life. [Yes folks - a large contributor to the social problems we face are financial pressures and the stress and unhappiness they lead to].

There is plenty of information that proves how corrupt the finance sector is. The billions of dollars banks have been fined is just one pointer. The fact that no bank CEOs or Directors (other than in Iceland) have been stripped of assets and jailed is another.

A key point to realise is that the trillions of dollars that governments have collectively borrowed will not be repaid. These debts are not even expected to be paid back. The debt was created so that your government can continue taxing you to pay the interest. Your wealth and your freedom has been stolen. Your governments and your Courts are letting bankers get away with using fraud, forgery and other criminal activities to enrich themselves at your expense and your country's expense. Your democracy has been debauched. The wealthiest 1% of the world control more than half the world's wealth. Every day your government is working against your interests and helping concentrate power and wealth in the hands of the upper echelon corporate / banking elites.

The question is - What are you going to do to help us bring about change?
